DCJ Privacy Notice

This is a notice under the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998 (NSW) (PPIP Act) and the Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002 (NSW) (HRIP Act), which govern our collection, use and disclosure of personal information and health information respectively. DCJ may collect personal information and health information from time to time in connection with your application for housing or other support or in connection with your tenancy. Such information is held by DCJ and includes details you provide in this document, information in other documentation completed or provided by or on your behalf, and information you provide to our personnel (for example during your tenancy sign-up process). DCJ collects your personal information and health information for purposes including the assessment and processing of your application, and administering your tenancy. DCJ may also use your information within DCJ as a whole in order to plan, coordinate and improve the way it provides services. The supply of this information is voluntary, if you cannot or do not wish to supply us with the information we request we will not be able to process your application or provide services to you.

Intended recipients of personal information and/or health information include those involved in the above activities, as well as any others who may have an interest in considering your application or tenancy including, where relevant, DCJ, Aboriginal Housing Office, community housing organisations, the Housing Appeals Committee, and survey companies for the purposes of determining client satisfaction and related long-term service enhancement. DCJ may also disclose personal information and health information where required or permitted by law, such as to relevant statutory bodies or for purposes including child protection, health reasons, protection of public revenue or law enforcement. If you provide us with personal information or health information relating to any other person, you must have that person's authorisation and must make them aware of the contents of this notice. If that person is under 16 years old, you must be a parent or guardian of that person.

You have a right of access to, and correction of, your personal information and health information held by DCJ in accordance with the PPIP Act and the HRIP Act. Further information about your privacy rights and your personal information can be found on the Department's website www.facs.nsw.gov.au/site_information/privacy, or by calling 02 9377 6000.

Notice and Declarations

Under the Housing Act 2001 a fine of up to $2,200 and/or three months imprisonment applies for making a false statement or representation or aiding someone in making a false statement or representation, or with the intention of retaining or continuing to obtain a benefit to which the person knows that they are not entitled, or fail to notify DCJ of any relevant changes of circumstances, within 28 days of the change occurring. DCJ may refuse further assistance or prosecute anyone who wilfully makes any false statements as a result of which they obtain accommodation or other financial benefit of any kind.

DCJ may formulate a policy for the granting of subsidies or the waiver of rents. In accordance with such policies, DCJ may grant a subsidy or waive rent in its absolute discretion.

Declaration

- I authorise DCJ to confirm information provided by me with any third party and or any such third party to provide DCJ any relevant documentation or information sought by DCJ when determining or supporting this application.
- I understand the instructions given on this application form.
- To the best of my knowledge, the information provided in this form is correct.
- I understand there are penalties for giving false or misleading information,
- I understand that I must notify DCJ within 28 days of any change in the income, assets and/or people in my household.
